ABOUT THE FEDERATION

The Federation

The New Zealand Federation of Disability Information Centres became incorporated in 1989 as the Peak professional association for Disability Information Advisory Services. (DIAS)

Since then our membership has continued to grow. We noted that there were many health and disability providers, who were not affiliated with any other Peak body, who wanted to join the Federation. They may not be directly providing DIAS but they do promote the importance of disability information and other services that enhance the experience of disabled persons in our communities.

In 2019, following a membership review, we introduced a new type of membership. This is specifically for those who want to affiliate with the Federation and have access to the benefits we provide. We changed our trading name to the Federation of Health and Disability Collectives to reflect our broader membership, but we are most widely known simply as The Federation.

Our Federation Board members are located across Aotearoa-New Zealand and are proud leaders of their organisations and at the forefront of disability advocacy locally:

President: Lisa Martin – Auckland

Treasurer: Brian Eriksen – New Plymouth

COMMITTEE

Noel Matthews – Northland

Sonia Thursby – North Shore

Karen Beard-Greer – Auckland

Debbie Roe – Otago

Michelle Riwai – Palmerston North

Julie Paalvast - Christchurch

Carol Wood – Executive Officer

MEMBERSHIP OVERVIEW

Being a Member of the Federation gives you exclusive access to a range of opportunities that will help to enhance your service provision and strengthen your business capabilities.

An affiliate membership with The Federation will enable you to tap into a range of organisations and experience across the country that will allow you to:

- Create the ability for you to rapidly pivot your service and engagement model to adapt as the sector transforms. The speed and cost-effectiveness of the ability to pivot compared to other service channels will be measurable and demonstrable to funders
- Tap into collaborative models that provide you with the ability to rapidly extend reach and allow you to add services on demand
- Add new contacts and information not currently on your existing database that tap into the collective expertise across the country adding value to your offering.
- Access discounted conferences, workshops, seminars, and online training via the Federation Academy – an online portal being developed for training modules that are relevant to our industry.
- Be part of a national collective that influences change-makers and lobbies for positive system transformation of disability services.
